BELLEVUE INSIDE OUT (2001)

Bellevue Hospital Center was founded in New York City in 1736. It is especially well known for its psychiatric facilities—so much so that many people mistakenly think that Bellevue is a mental hospital (it isn’t; it is a general hospital with an excellent psychiatric ward). The 2001 film Bellevue Inside Out chronicles a year in Bellevue’s psychiatric emergency room.

Your assignment is to write out THREE original questions, observations, insights, or reflections the film raises for you. Your three responses should be intelligent and detailed, written out in careful prose. Each, I assume, would be a brief paragraph (or longer, if you get particularly inspired).
